AIRBORNE ALL THE WAY!

ARMY

Responsibility now! Over a drop zone, with troops on alert for every command—it's the airborne platoon leader and jumpmaster who calls the shots. "Stand in the door!"... "Go!" Dozens of ready-for-anything paratroops leap into space. As an airborne officer, YOU can be the one who leads them.

In the Army's airborne, leadership is a way of life. An airborne officer must have plenty of physical stamina, mental toughness and an accumulation of management skills, along with leadership experience. Army ROTC offers the kind of training that qualifies you for the airborne's kind of responsibility.

If the challenge of the Army's Airborne Corps interests you, see the Professor of Military Science on your campus. The addition of Army ROTC gives any college major a special jump on leadership experience—reinforcement for your future career—military or civilian.

BE ALL YOU CAN BE.

ARMY ROTC.
